

PROJECT YOUR VOICE

A PUBLIC ART PROJECT

Project Your Voice

Share your Summit County story. An open call for all voices in Summit County to promote and celebrate community connection through public art.

The Summit County Public Art Advisory Board ('SCPAAB') has released this open call for a literary art projection project called Project Your Voice. The purpose is to create spaces for self-expression for our community through transforming literary arts into visual installations.

We invite you to submit words that express how YOU feel connected to our community. Stories, poems, prose, lyrics, rap, odes, haiku, dialogue, observations, emotion, analysis, questions, declarations, affirmations, single words, riddles, unique quotes – the only limits are 280 characters and your imagination. Your expressions of literary art will be transformed into visual art that is projected onto unexpected spaces throughout Summit County.

The SCPAAB believes that art can serve as a platform that enhances and informs our community of Summit County, connecting us all. This public art project is intended to connect our community through written word. How do you connect with this community? What does this community mean to you? What are your hopes and aspirations for Summit County? Tell us about life in our community.

Express yourself. Feel heard. Be heard. Look for your words in Project Your Voice Public Art Project, coming May 2019. Open to Summit County, UT residents of all ages.

To Submit Literary Art: Tweet with #ProjectYourVoiceSC and/or visit our Submission Form

Deadline: April 7, 2019

Limit: 280 characters*

Questions: No problem. Email Jocelyn Scudder at jscudder@summitcounty.org

Sponsored by Summit County RAP Tax and Park City Sunrise Rotary

* Please note that inappropriate, profane, or unoriginal content is prohibited. Depending on number of submissions, a limited selection may be included in projection installations.

