Tell us a little about yourself, and your qualifications:

I originally grew up in Utah County and raised four girls before moving to Henefer in 2013. My family owns a small ranch outside of Henefer and I have spent most of my spare time helping to improve the land. My family has roots in Henefer back to the 1850s. I work currently from my home for Cengage Learning as a Strategic Director and travel to various academic libraries in the west helping them with historical archive research. I also currently am serving on the Henefer City Council.
